Northwind

San Francisco, CA

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for the Senior Frontend Engineer role at Northwind. Your team is rebuilding the analytics workspace, and that is exactly the kind of surface I have spent the last seven years making fast and pleasant to use.

At Brightline I led the design system rewrite that six product teams now build on, and I own the report builder that 90k people use every month. Both projects were about the same thing Northwind is solving: interfaces that stay quick and coherent as the data underneath them grows. Cutting our Largest Contentful Paint by 43 percent taught me where the real costs hide, and the accessibility program I instituted took us from a 61 to a 98 Lighthouse score.

What draws me to Northwind specifically is the craft bar. The product feels considered in a way most dashboards do not, and your engineering blog suggests the team treats frontend performance as a feature, not an afterthought. I would like to help raise that bar further.

I would welcome the chance to talk about how I can contribute to the workspace team. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Best regards,

Maya Chen
